1. INTRODUCTION

This policy and procedure applies to all employees of School Partnership Trust Academies (SPTA). It should be recognised that this procedure is available to all Trade Unions.

Throughout this document, the term 'Principal' refers to the Principal or Head of Academy. 'Senior Leader' refers to the Senior Department Head and 'Department Manager' refers to the next most senior person in the same department within the Core Team. Reference to 'SPTA' includes all Academies as well as the Core Team.

SPTA recognises that in the interest of good employee relations, a procedure should exist whereby all employees are able to resolve disagreements equitably and as quickly as possible. SPTA also recognises that the procedure should be simple and capable of progressing the resolution of matters quickly.

2. KEY PRINCIPLES

This policy will ensure clarity over the meaning of a collective dispute, provide managers and employees with a clear process to promptly resolve collective disputes and achieve a mutually acceptable solution, ensure that managers are aware of and supported in carrying out our responsibilities for the resolving of issues as soon as possible to ensure that all parties have the opportunity to state their case, and to clarify roles and responsibilities of all parties. Roles and responsibilities are outlined in Appendix 1.

Once a collective dispute has been raised, the Status Quo will apply to SPTA and those employees in dispute. This means that there will be no changes to pay, conditions of service, working practices or other means of contention. Trade unions reserve the right to take industrial action at any stage of the process or if the status quo is breached.

This policy is designed to deal with collective disputes only. It is not intended that it should be applied to individual grievances from individual employees, in these circumstances the employee should refer to the 'SPTA Grievance Policy and Procedure'.

In all collective disputes, it is important that the trade union clearly state the remedy being sought. At the outset the trade union will lodge the dispute outlining the reasons and remedy.

The procedure is intended to resolve disputes as quickly as possible.

Both parties to the dispute will seek resolution at the lowest possible level.

Advice may be sought by either party from ACAS at any stage of the procedure. This role may be extended to one of mediation or conciliation or arbitration (Appendix 4) by the mutual agreement of both parties.

This procedure should not inhibit the use of informal discussion as a means of resolving potential collective disputes.

3. DEFINITION OF COLLECTIVE DISPUTE

A collective dispute is a complaint by a group of employees relating to their employment, which is pursued on their behalf by one or more representatives of the Trade Unions.

4. COLLECTIVE DISPUTES PROCEDURE

Where the formal procedure is invoked, every attempt should be made to resolve the dispute at the lowest possible level. However, it is accepted that in some situations it may be more appropriate to deal with the dispute at a formal level

4.1 INFORMAL RESOLUTION

SPTA encourages Principals / Senior Leaders and Trade Union representatives to deal with collective disputes informally, and in the majority of instances this will enable a speedy resolution. Advice during this stage may be sought from SPTA HR to assist in this process.

Where resolution cannot be reached informally, within a reasonable timeframe, and it is clear that all avenues have been exhausted, the dispute will become formal

4.2 FORMAL PROCEDURE

In order to lodge a formal dispute, the Trade Union representative should send written notification to the SPTA HR Department. This notification should provide full details of the dispute, any supporting evidence and the resolution sought. This information may be submitted on the Formal Grievance Form (Appendix 3) if the trade union so determines.

It may be appropriate for relevant parties to meet to agree the nature of the dispute and obtain further details.

The SPTA Director shall arrange a meeting with the parties concerned, within ten working days of the receipt of the dispute. The purpose of the meeting will be to listen to the case put forward by the Trade Union raising the dispute and reach a decision. Any documents for consideration in this meeting should be submitted to respective parties five working days prior to the meeting taking place.

The meeting will be chaired by a SPTA Director, who will be supported by a member of SPTA HR. Every effort will be made to achieve a prompt resolution at this stage.

The outcome of the Collective Disputes Meeting shall be confirmed to both parties in writing within five working days. Further meetings will be arranged to negotiate a resolution wherever possible

5. REVIEW

This policy will be reviewed every three years, or when there are changes to relevant legislation.
